

We need the rules that are in effect now: rules that serve the public interest, not the private interests of a few profiteers who will eliminate diversity in dissemination of information. This shortly becomes propaganda rather than news.